Blachford Acoustics Group Announces New Vice President of Technology

West Chicago, IL– Blachford Acoustics Group, a leading provider of noise control solutions, today announced the hiring of Michael Benjamin as its new Vice President of Technology & Innovation. He will take over this position from Pete Marinelli who retired from the position effective May 1st. In this role, Michael will be responsible for leading the company’s technology strategy and innovation efforts as well as overseeing the Blachford Acoustics Laboratory and Technical Center.

“We are excited to welcome Michael to the Blachford team,” said Matthew Taub, President & COO of Blachford Acoustics Group. “He brings a wealth of experience in innovation and product development, and his expertise will be invaluable as we continue to develop and deploy innovative noise control solutions.”

Michael has almost 20 years of experience in Product Development, Product Engineering, and Research and Development. He is a graduate of Oklahoma State University and holds a master’s degree in mechanical engineering.

Blachford is very excited to have Michael join our team with all the experience, knowledge, and vision he brings with him.
